THE PROJECT

The European Solidarity Corps project "Co-Habitat" arrives in its second edition. The main objective of "Co-habitat" is to promote sustainability as well as to foster rural development, through the activities that will be developed in the vegetable gardens of Villasur de Herreros and through the activities focused on sustainable development and environmental protection issues.

Furthermore, the project will represent an intercultural learning opportunity for the volunteers and entities involved, who will participate in the project to promote cooperation and solidarity, responding to the programmatic strategy of the European Solidarity Corps.

El Puchero de Villasur, the hosting organization, was founded in 2018 by an initiative for the conscious supply of food following organic farming methods and recovering animal farming and animal traction for agricultural work.

El Puchero de Villasur aims to establish a direct relationship between production and consumption, thanks to which a deep knowledge between both parties is facilitated, as well as the problems related to production and its impact on the territory.

MAIN ACTIVITIES

Volunteers will participate in all the activities of the organisation and will always be guided and supported by the members of the association.

The main activities in which volunteers will participate are:

- assistance in the care and maintenance of organic gardens;
- support in the maintenance of the horse breeding farm;
- support in the preparation and distribution of vegetable baskets for members;
- assistance in forestry work;
- assistance in the preparation and development of theoretical and practical agroecology courses, workshops and seminars;
- assistance in the preparation and development of events related to ecology, rural development and food sovereignty;
- support in the maintenance of the association's facilities;
- promotion of the European Solidarity Corps programme;
- communication activities and promotion of the association's activities.
